Hoist Training - LTM Motor School

Thank you for your interest in the LTM Motor School which offers two days of intense tuition.

The next school will take place on 19th & 20th October 2010

The course will cover the following:

- General electrical theory
- Overview of the Lodestar & new LoadGuard Hoists
- How to operate a Hoist correctly
- Hoist assembly and disassembly
- Maintenance
- Troubleshooting and fault finding on faulty hoists
- Health & Safety
- Questions & Answers

We intend to run two or three schools per year at our premises in Birkenhead, Wirral.

Each offers about 16 places which will allow two people to work on each hoist. The course is presented in a hands-on, no-nonsense, practical manner. Places are limited to ensure that attendees receive maximum attention.

The course provides a comprehensive overview of Electric Hoists. It will familiarise users and specifies with operational theory, design philosophy, safety aspects, internal workings and trouble-shooting methods of the Lodestar. We will also spend some time looking at the new LoadGuard hoist which is used for many higher specification applications such as BS7906: Part1 - Category A and BGV D8 Plus as well as BGV C1- all written with the intention of suspending or moving loads without secondary suspension.

The course offers the chance to completely strip a hoist down to its component parts – then re-build and operate it unravelling the mysteries in the process! A full set of manuals and course notes is also provided. Please note the course is designed around maintenance rather than operation of hoists!

Overnight accommodation is difficult to arrange close to our works; we think it best for attendees to stay in Liverpool. The evening meal will also be in Liverpool.

We are located close to Central Station in Birkenhead (on the Wirral underground line). We detail possible hotels that could be booked.

You can either get the train across to Birkenhead Central Station (LTM is 200 yards away) or drive through the Mersey Tunnel (toll £1.40 each way), we are 300 yards from the Birkenhead Tunnel exit
